About HASPI

The Health and Science Pipeline Initiative (HASPI) is a statewide project to support middle and high schools in implementing science-based health pathway programs. Through partnerships among science and Career-Technical Education (CTE) teachers and regional employers, students are prepared for careers in science, health, and medicine through the infusion of health and medical concepts into traditional standards-based science courses. HASPI is funded by the Governor's Career Technical Education Initiative – CTE Community Collaborative, Grossmont-Cuyamaca Community College District, San Diego, CA.
